Dear Sister Berthaldine:-

I was very glad to get your letter and to hear all that you had to say about your hopes in the consumation of Koreshanity. As for myself, I never, for even one moment loose faith in the final outcome. I can go almost into ecstasies when I meditate upon what is to come. I often speculate upon the manner in which certain lines of work will be conducted. So that when it comes to pass, I will be able to see how well I could guess.

I have very little use for sentiment; I love the sentiment which music brings as it seems to touch a chord within me that vibrates through and through and fills my whole soul with delight, but the kind of sentiment that is most always expressed among those with whom I have daily conversation, finds no lodgement within me. I have come to the conclusion that the motto, "Pitty none, love all, hold no resentments and nothing can harm you" is the best ever and I believe that it isscientific.

I must say that I was somewhat disapointed in the manner in which the Presidential nominations turned out, and yet I know that this way will be most likely to bring about my predeiction at the time Wilson was elected. I said, "He will be elected the second time and in the midst of his second administration, the people will call on Theodore Roosevelt to help them out of their difficulties. I also said that he had killed the Republican party and that it would never elect a man to the Presidency under that party name again.

I firmly believe that Wilson will be re-elected and that he will bein War before six months after he takes his seat if not before. The people will call on T.R. and he will respond, but even he will not be able to stem the tide until he calls upon the Mighty One whom we know as the Saviour. And I believe he will, for I am persuaded that he is sanguinely related to the Lord Himself.

I am glad to hear that you may come toWashington. I shall be on the lookout for a place for you about the time you wish to come. The places that are advertised do not stay vacant long and it will be necessary to wait until just a few days before you intend to start and then when one is found it may be secured. If you will send me word just as far in advance as you can when you learn the exact time you expect to be in Washington, I will try and find some place that will suit you. If I fail, you can put up with the best we can give you until such time as you shall find it yourselves.

I received a letter from Sr Marta Bellingham some little time ago. She wrote in somewhat the same strain that you do, and if I did not know what I do, I would never dream from ant thing that she said that she was off in one of the groups

I cannot believe that she feels any thing but the most sincere desire to have harmony everywhere among the Koreshans.

When I think of it, it seems to me almost impossible that there could be worked up such feelings among the brothers and sisters as I have been led to believe existed at one time in the Unity. And just to think that this was so among God's own chosen people.

I am very anxious to have a long talk with you. I cannot put it as I would if I could talk with you face to face.

Sr. Elizebeth has fallen into some funds from her father's estate and has things a little easier now. I am very glad to see her happy. She comes up once in a while and we go down when we can.

We have had such a lot of rain here that the crops have been drowned out to a large extent. Cool weather.

I have got over my spell with my side and am feeling quite myself again.

Got a nice letter from Mr. Andersen of Rome the other day. He is just as confident as ever and is putting all his life and energies into the work and begs me to do the same.

My work with him may be criticised by Koreshans but I have my own conscience to deal with and my conscience is perfectly clear on this point as time will prove I believe.

Give my kind regards to all who know me, and hoping to hear from you often, I beg to remain,

Sincerely Yours in Koresh:-
